EXPANDED FOR LOW- AND MODERATE- INCOME VERMONTERS

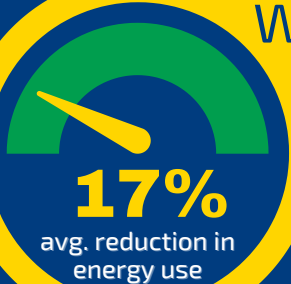

WEATHERIZATION REBATES

WHY WEATHERIZATION?

For 30 years, VGS has been helping customers weatherize their homes to cut costs and lower their carbon footprint. Our residential energy services have displaced the equivalent annual gas use of 6,955 typical Vermont homes. As we ramp up efforts to meet the State's climate goals, we're backing our commitment by increasing incentives for low- and moderate-income customers so they can take part in the many benefits afforded by an efficient, weatherized dwelling.

WHAT ARE THE BENEFITS?

Weatherization describes home improvements to air seal and insulate the exterior surfaces of a home, such as basements, walls, and attics. By taking these steps, homeowners reduce heat loss, increase comfort, and improve their home's indoor air quality. The savings are impressive: VGS customers who utilize our residential efficiency services see a 17 percent reduction in energy use -- that's a big reduction in carbon and cost.

WHO'S ELIGIBLE FOR REBATES?

VGS will cover 75 percent of project costs up to $5,000 for customers with household income* less than 120 percent of Vermont's area median income:

Addison County $104,800 (Family of 4)
Chittenden County $110,000 (Family of 4)
Franklin County $110,000 (Family of 4)

*those under 80% AMI may qualify for a larger incentive. Contact VGS to learn more
